Voters League to Hear Debate On Proposition No. 3

Meeting Called For 7:30 Tomorrow Evening at Veterans' Hall

LOMITA.—Organization of the Voters League was perfected at a meeting held last week by the election of Harry Applin, president; T. C. Erickson, vice president; and Mrs. Anna Barnett, secretary. A committee on by-laws, including C. Alford, J. E. Keith and N. H. Cline, was named to report at the next meeting which will be held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall, tomorrow night.

At this meeting a debate on Proposition No. 3, relating to the proposed reform of the trust deed law, will be held. O. D. Jones of the Home Protective Association will be one of the speakers.

R. M. Jackson, of Hynes, president of the Voters League in that community, will address the meeting, giving a talk on organization and the purposes of the league, which has been formed to protect the interests of the common people, study the questions of taxation and aid in the re-establishment of popular government.

A committee on grievances, A. N. Coward, Henry G. Roberts and Mrs. Katie McPeak, named to handle all questions of discrimination in the distribution of county employment, investigate complaints and intercede with public utilities for leniency in the matter of unpaid accounts for gas, water and lights, was successful in getting an extension of time for payment in a number of cases from the utilities.

The meetings of the Voters League are open to all residents who are interested in the public questions confronting the voter today. Its membership is already large, and its meetings are attracting large crowds.

Boys Suspected of Gas Theft Warned

Three boys about 18 years old were picked up Friday night in the vicinity of the county health center building by the Torrance night police on suspicion of the theft of gasoline from cars parked along Carson street. As the man whose car had been drained of gas declined to swear out a warrant, the boys were taken to the police station and their parents summoned, to whom they were then released with a warning to stay out of the city limits after 6 o'clock in the evening.

NO SOX — NO SCHOOL!

Jeanne Papst, petite platinum blonde of Lincoln High School, Seattle, thinks stockings are superfluous but she smilingly put them on when the Seattle School Board issued an edict providing, in effect, that "sexless gals wouldn't be permitted to attend classes."

Keeping Up With Torrance High

A surprise party was given by the teachers at Torrance high for Mrs. Harold Bayes, formerly Eleanor Boice, and Mr. Donahue, the new coach, each of whom has recently been married. Miss Summerwell decorated the table with French bouquets. The teachers presented Mrs. Bayes with a pair of lavender and green blankets and Mr. Donahue with a handsome hemstitched table cloth with six napkins.

Both teachers were much surprised and Mr. Donahue thinks that Torrance high has a marvelous faculty to do so much for a newcomer.

The former Miss Laura O'Flynn is Mr. Donahue's bride. They were married in Los Angeles and intend to set up housekeeping there. Mr. and Mrs. Bayes are living in Torrance.

Thomas McNeil, senior class president, won a gold medal at the Los Angeles county fair for judging milk. Tommy surely knows his cows!

The girls in the sewing classes may be modern, but they do like their sewing. In fact, they enjoy it so much that they make window displays from the finished products which prove to be a source of interest to the other students. The girls especially enjoy taking some relic from the attic trunk and turning it into a truly lovely creation that would do any modern miss credit.

Torrance proved last Friday in its game with Bell that it is going to be a real fighting team. The townspeople should be sure to get their tickets in advance for the game tomorrow with Narbonne, for there will be standing room only for late arrivals.

It's sure to be a fighting game the whole way through and well worth planning for!

The students have been greatly concerned over the illness of Herman Hamman. The senior class, of which he is a member, sent flowers to him and are contemplating other gifts as he recuperates.

The cast for the senior play, "The Poor Nut," has been chosen. The characters are as follows: John Miller.....Melvin Howard Short Link Of Paving Is Begun On Figueroa St.

Dangerous Jog to Be Removed on Main Harbor Artery

Straightening out the jog in Figueroa street, the Los Angeles board of public works this week awarded the contract for paving 327 feet of the artery south from 182nd street. The work is to be done by W. E. Mayo, at a cost of $3044.

The jog at this point in Figueroa street has existed since the artery was paved several years ago. With award of the contract for the link between 183rd and 185th streets, the artery will be a heavily-traveled thoroughfare within a few months, and the jog would be dangerous, it was pointed out to the metropolitan city.

Meanwhile, grading on the Figueroa link between 183rd and 185th streets is progressing rapidly, and the fill south of 185th street is being made in such a manner that paving may be laid immediately upon completion.

Installation of storm drainage lines has been practically completed by the contractor, J. L. McClain and Company. The earth being placed in the fill is being rolled so that paving may be laid upon it immediately upon completion.

The Los Angeles city council this week was asked to reimburse the General Pipe Line Company for cost of relocating 800 feet of four-inch pipe line which must be moved inside the new right-of-way. The line was laid in June, 1927, on an unrecorded easement.

Light Fingered Gentry "Lay Off" Local Gathering

Torrance was more fortunate than Van Nuys during cornerstone-laying ceremonies for their newest public building, Los Angeles police records disclosed today.

When Los Angeles city and county officials gathered at Van Nuys last week to witness the laying of the cornerstone, pickpockets "touched" three persons in the gathering, one of them within a few feet of Mayor John C. Porter. Pickpockets seemingly had decided it would be "unhealthy" to operate during ceremonies for laying the cornerstone at the new Torrance health center several weeks ago.

event that no one who lives in Torrance can afford to miss.

Coach Ben Comrada, vice principal of Narbonne high school, called on Torrance's new principal, Arthur C. Waldeloh, Monday, and also paid a brief visit to Herman Hamman, injured Tartar football player, at the Torrance hospital, to whom he presented a bouquet of flowers sent from the Narbonne high school gardens.
